

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A semiconductor device is provided with dummy patterns at an originally thinner portion of each of layers, and each of these dummy patterns is electrically connected to a reference wire that is either a power-supply wire or a ground wire.

5